

Hengist Field Care Home residents get creative with paints

On Tuesday 23 May here at Hengist Field Care Home we came together for a creative session to do some fantastic acrylic landscape painting.

Using just a black and white colour palate, our residents created stunning landscapes on canvases, with the aid of some pictures for reference.

The results were brilliant! We definitely have some very artistic residents amongst us – and some budding Monet painters for sure! It was great fun and everyone was so pleased with their finished pieces of art work. They look so eye-catching on display.

We had also previously made some elephant sculptures out of salt dough, which our ladies and gents painted and varnished in bright colours.

All in all a very creative day!
